—A Shadow of My Life

I have notched a CENTURY, and realizing ruefully that DEATH is waiting for me at the GREAT DIVIDE, I am puzzled . . .

Neither a yearning to cross, nor keen desire to linger, dominates me, so eerily between two worlds tetering to and fro I sway, helpless, gazing earthwards pensively, yet longing tenderly to glimpse celestial fields

One truth at least this tetering makes clear—why some men pale,
curse FATE,
and shudder at the thought of crossing:
remorse breeds dread
of what follows death, so, the persistently searing thought of having to face the GREAT PERHAPS is indeed terrifying . . .

But, happily, not to me: I've kept on easy terms with LIFE;
so eerily I'll carry on till easeful Death says COME.

MY SWAN SONG commemorating my One hundredth anniversary at Cumberland College—October 14, 1970

We Live In Private Allied Worlds, Forgetful Of The Image Our Bricked And Tree-topped Surroundings Present . . .

I Came In Hope Of Finding A Way To Expand My Own Reflection, To Make It More Than It Was

Outwardly We Conform—

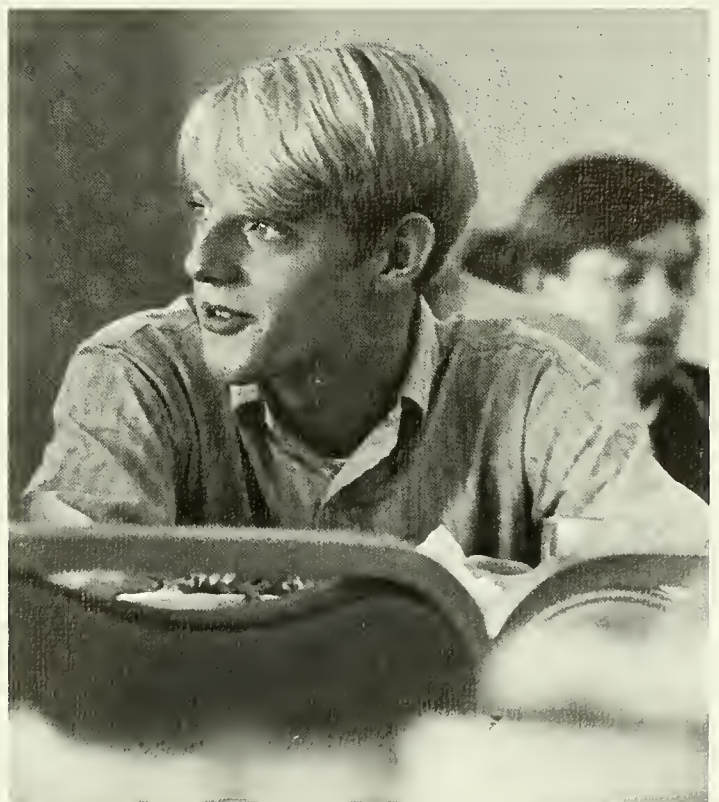

Inside, Our Worlds

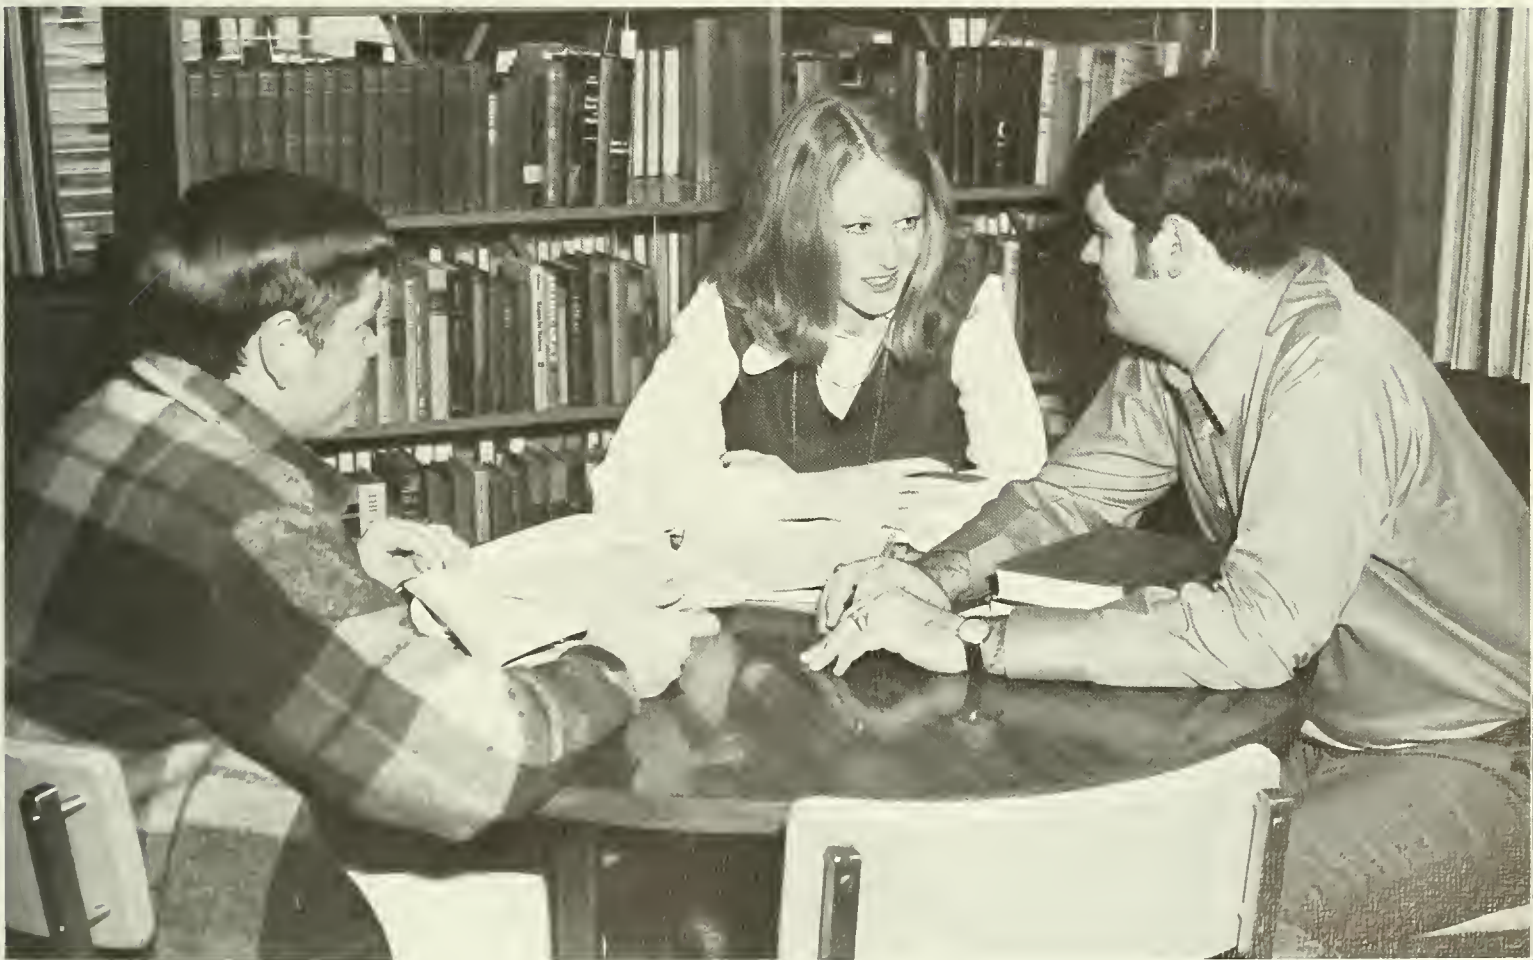

Are Largely Individual

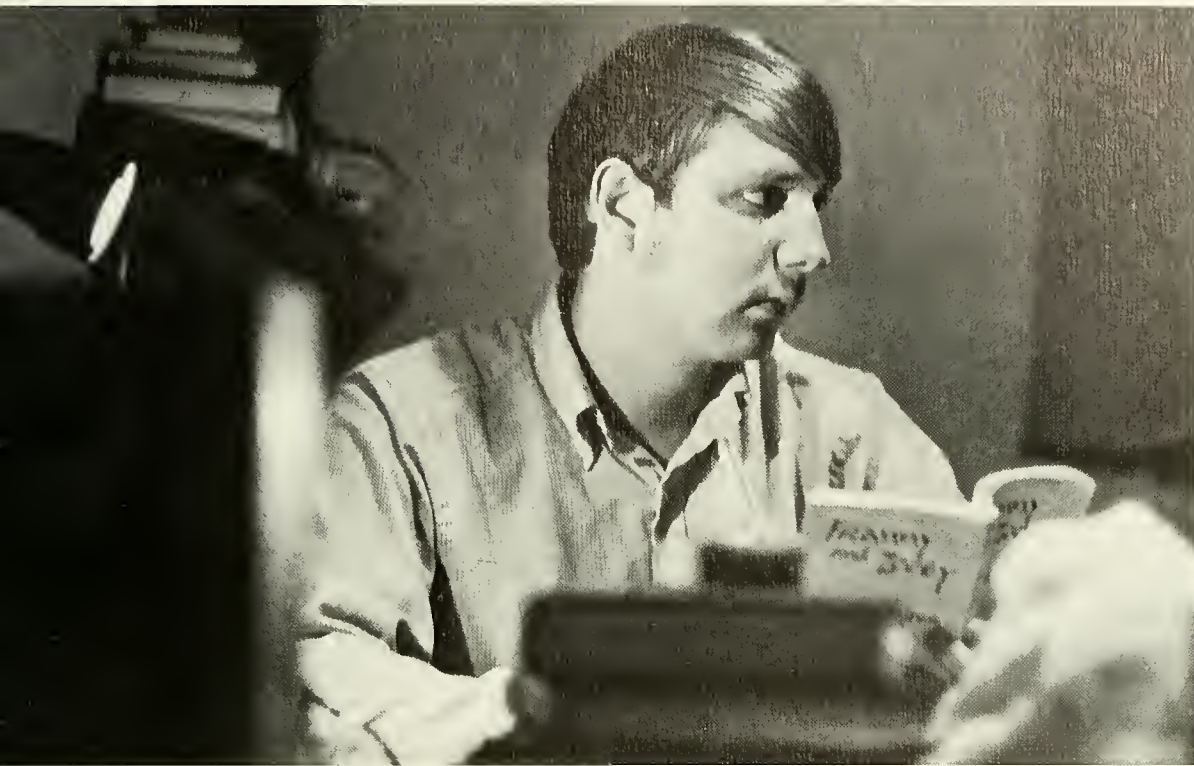

What Is
It That
We Want
From Life?

Hard times are just the balance of this perfect life Wind and rain and sun are all the same So I know that it would never really make a damn to me If I had never heard your name But somehow loneliness is real and becomes more than a shroud Surrounding all the gravestones of my lies There's a little bit of care that's crying to be heard While just a little more apathy dies

Dove is striking out and emptiness is dying And pain becomes more than a word to me I can't go back to heaven, I've gone too far in hell So open up the gates and set me free

A word or touch or something to say you are alive And can feel the loving bitterness I feel Eternity is nothing if there's no one to share But its worse still when you know its not for real If its right if its wrong, I'm coming down that road The weight of freedom heavy on my mind But its a long time since I've been as full of faith as now So won't you please remember and be kind hit 'em in the head with love

I know some people who ain't much for action they'd rather sit around and merely talk.
But talk is cheap,
the days are gettin' shorter so I'm buildin' my home upon a rock.
And the next time somebody comes along and knocks me down I'm gonna get up and hit 'em in the head with love.

THE OLD FAMILIAR FACES

I have had playmates, I have had companions, In my days of childhood, in my joyful school-days;
All, all are gone, the old familiar faces.

I have been laughing, I have been carousing, Drinking late, sitting late, with my bosom cronies;
All, all are gone, the old familiar faces.

I loved a Love once, fairest among women: Closed are her doors on me, I must not see her --
All, all are gone, the old familiar faces.

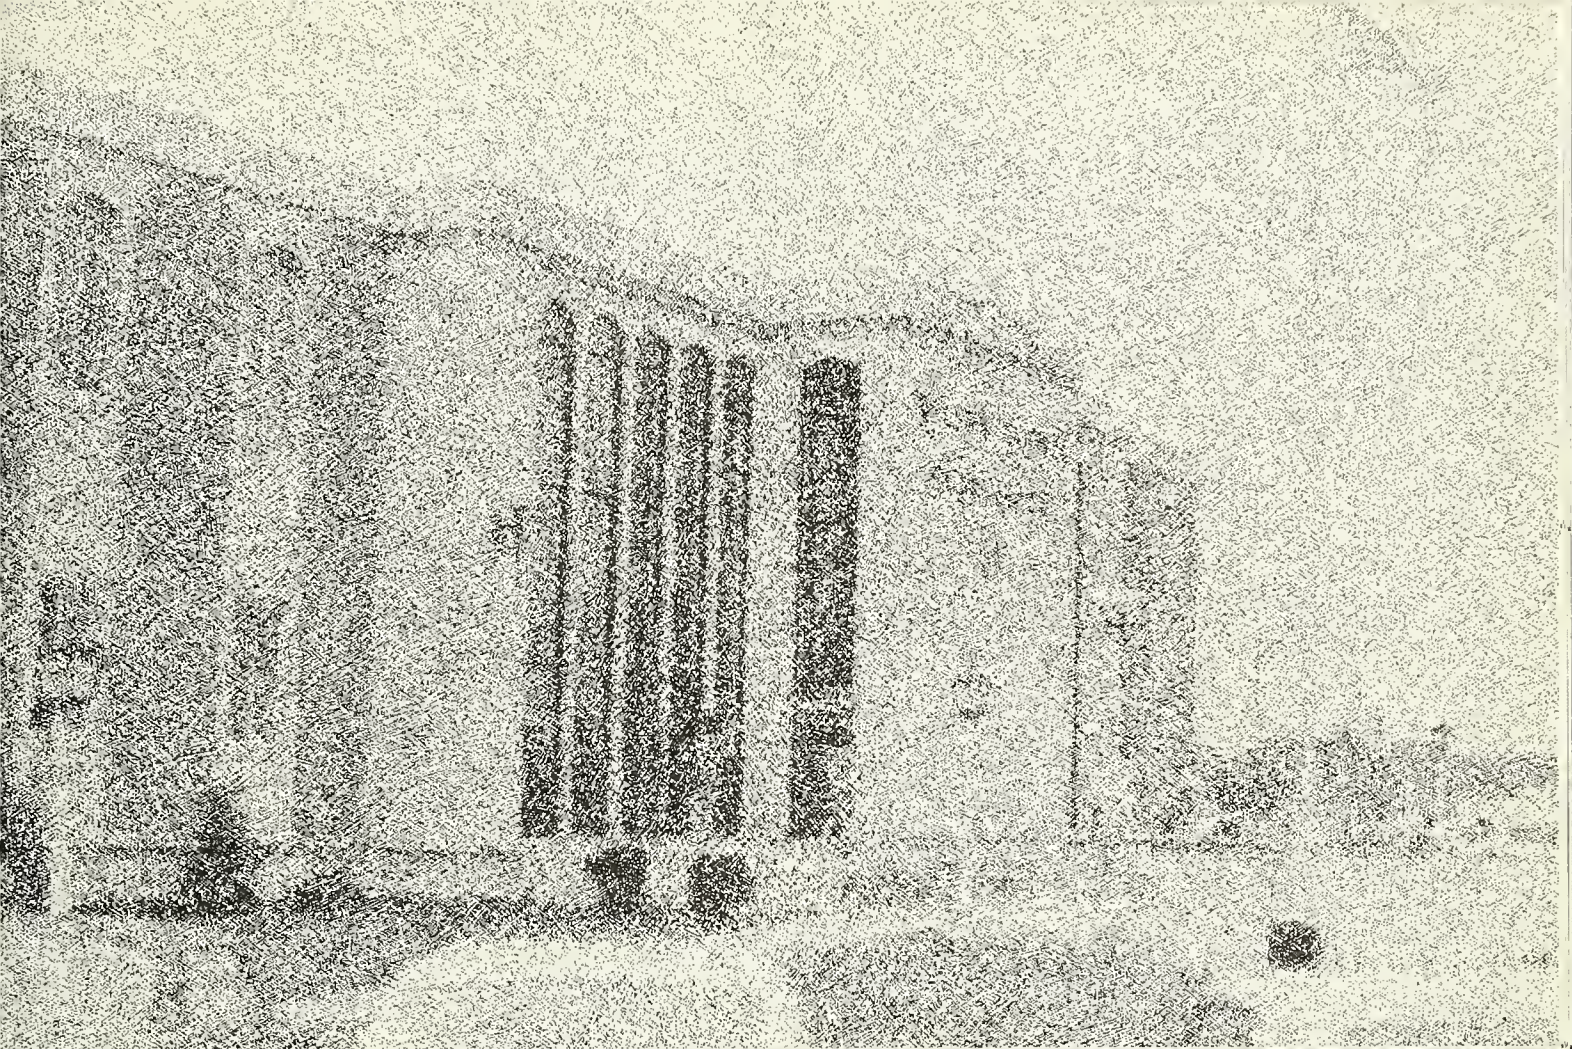

I have a friend, a kinder friend has no man:
Like an ingrate, I left my friend abruptly; Left him, to muse on the old familiar faces.

Ghost-like I paced round the haunts of my childhood, Earth seem'd a desert I was bound to traverse, Seeking to find the old familiar faces.

Friend of my bosom, thou more than a brother, Why wert not thou born in my father's dwelling?
So might we talk of the old familiar faces.

How some they have died, and some they have left me,
And some are taken from me; all are departed;
All, all are gone, the old familiar faces

LOOKING INTO A FACE

Conversation brings us so close! Opening The surfs of the body, Bringing fish up near the sun,
And stiffening the backbones of the seal

I have wandered in a face, for hours, Passing through dark fires.
I have risen to a body
Not yet born,
Existing like a light around the body,
Through which the body moves like a sliding moon

—Robert Bly

Sing of freedom in the streets
not weary but with soul
hearts on fire with need to be free

Sing it louder longer
higher
sing it beautiful echo it in the concrete canyons while eye-filled windows of pounding hearts
glance at their watches

Speak it
among your own your old
know of its absence Martin told you how to get it

Dylan
gave you the songs

You know
as I
that your greatest enemy is your own kind who have not the tact
nor the intelligence

to make always the right move at the right time

Your freedom
 like mine will always have to be a personal one of ourselves and not of our people

but of the freedom we give each other as we face
 each other
 man to man

not race to race

There are some of my people you will never accept
and neither will I same is true of yours
no one can represent my heart except me

So
 as you fight to gain your freedom
and

as I fight not to lose anymore
of mine
we must try not to hurt the innocent or mislead
 the young

And when those who love excitement and violence join us both we must weigh our thoughts about our people
and our country
who will gain
 if we both lose we must seek these out destroy them
 quietly

and
 when this is done we may have our freedom if not when we meet face to face
I will respect you
 as a man.

—Jimmy Moore

WHAT, THEN?

You say
there's nothing after this,
that love
is only empty desire, that beauty
is only in the new and fades fast away,
that soul
is just something to sing about,
that the meaning for life is as empty as heaven.

You say
conscience doesn't exist—
it's only a false dream to entertain empty people.

I don't mind talking to you, but I just noticed—you have no shadow.

—Jimmy Moore

In this year's Phoenix we have tried to present at least a shadow of what life at Cumberland is really like—to mirror a full reflection would not only be impossible, but unwise.

The goal of the 1971 Phoenix Staff was to produce a different book. This was achieved at least in one way—an exclusive cover! We have also attempted to look for a moment into the life of the individual—to put into print the feelings of many students, hopefully expressed in the poems we have chosen.

Regardless of whether we have succeeded or failed with this year's Phoenix, I would like to thank several people who lended themselves to the seriousness and fun of college life.

Along with Martha Young—No. 1 Consultant and Assistant-Editor, we worked together to plan lay-outs, make assignments, select and organize pictures, and check numerous little details. Thanks to Judy Arrington, our Business Manager, who financed a great deal of the book through the sale of advertisements, and also to Harriet Berry who took care of the remaining ads for us at a time when the rest of us were busy trying to get organization under way. If there is any misidentification in the class sections, you can blame Ellen Jo Chaffin, who we hope worked with accuracy on a tough section. Thanks also to Gary Cross and Bill Joins for drawing lay-outs, and Kyle Aldridge and Chris Poindexter for their art work. To Terry Jeanne Atkinson and Libby Huffman—our typists—I thank for making legible our copy. And Ford Farrar—thanks for coming to every meeting and for doing everything no one else would do!

Our photography depicts a conglomeration of talents. Students Dick Officer, Frank England, Arthur Primrose and Pepper Bruce contributed several candid shots. We are also appreciative to Mr. Irving Lloyd and Mr. Lillard Barrett, whose professional skills provided us with some unique and excellent photography. A special thanks to Mr. S. A. Tarkington, who donated many of the action shots in our basketball section.

To Harold McGee, our American Yearbook representative, I thank for providing us with his much needed assistance and for always being here when we were in dire need of materials or advice. And last, a very warm thanks to Mrs. McDonald who was always behind the scene, providing the benefit of her experience, yet allowing us to deviate from the traditional style.

Finally, I'd like to thank everyone who has in any way contributed to the 1971 Phoenix—for putting up with a very distraught Editor!

—Dianne Hawks
